The Civil Society Organization Media Manager as Critical Communicator

Published 2012 • Nordicom Review, Vol. 33 (Special Issue), pp. 189–203 (with K. Caringer)

ACADEMIC CITATION (APA)

Lemish, P., & Caringer, K. (2012). The civil society organization media manager as critical communicator. Nordicom Review, 33(Special Issue), 189-203. https://doi.org/10.2478/nor-2013-0036

ABSTRACT & RESEARCH CONTEXT

Explores the strategic praxis of media managers in non-governmental and civil society organizations (CSOs), conceptualizing their role as 'critical communicators' who reshape public discourse and empower marginalized grassroots communities.

KEY FINDINGS & THEORETICAL CONTRIBUTION

Grassroots media managers move beyond standard public relations: they function as discursive translators, challenging mainstream hegemony and generating participatory knowledge from below.

ARCHIVE LOCATION & REPOSITORY ACCESS

Author:	Dr. Peter Lemish
Publication ID:	pub-6
Document Type:	Archival Peer-Reviewed Scholarly Brief / Full Analysis
Digital Archive:	Dr. Peter Lemish Living Digital Archive (https://peter-lemish-archive.vercel.app)
NotebookLM Source:	https://notebook.google.com/notebook/b5f6877e-c233-44d3-966a-ff6ee36344fa