Children and Television News in Times of Crisis

Published in: Scholarly Research Monograph (Co-authored with Dafna Lemish) (2005)

STANDARD CITATION (APA)

Lemish, P., & Lemish, D. (2005). Children and television news in times of crisis. Media Education & Child Development Review.

ABSTRACT & RESEARCH OVERVIEW

Investigates how children in conflict-affected regions consume, process, and emotionally respond to televised crisis news broadcasts and terror reportage.

KEY FINDINGS & THEORETICAL PRAXIS

Offers clear guidelines for educational broadcasters and parents to provide context, balance sensationalist graphics, and build emotional safety and media literacy during periods of national crisis.

Archival record preserved in the Dr. Peter Lemish Living Digital Archive.
Online Repository: https://peter-lemish-archive.vercel.app • Contact: archive@peterlemish.org